PROCEEDINGS

Discovery Status Conference held. The Court directed the parties in future joint discovery letters and discovery status reports to identify specifically whether each dispute relates to a bellwether case that is set for a trial date, so the Court can prioritize more time-sensitive disputes and craft appropriate relief.

The Court expressed a tentative view that a global deadline for clawing back documents is not likely appropriate at this time, but that a mechanism should be in place to resolve relevant clawbacks in advance of each trial with time for the parties to prepare for trial and potentially substitute in alternative exhibits. The Court directed the parties to meet and confer to attempt to reach a resolution, at least with respect to the upcoming Dean trial.

Plaintiffs withdrew their request for an expedited schedule to meet and confer on a joint discovery letter under Pretrial Order No. 8. The parties are attempting to focus their discussions on matters relevant to the Dean case. Plaintiffs anticipate filing a motion for sanctions seeking adverse inferences next week if disputes are not resolved regarding material purportedly not produced by Uber, including what Plaintiffs represented to be a new relevant database that only recently came to light in a deposition. The Court discussed the possibility that any dispute should be addressed in a discovery letter in the first instance to seek production of the information. Plaintiffs asserted that the necessary production and discovery could not feasibly be completed in advance of the Dean trial in January.
